Host Preparation

Here are a few tips to help you prepare yourself and your cast for the murder mystery.

Read the Guide on How to Host a Host-Party Murder Mystery. This guide will give you all the specifics on preparing for and hosting your party. This guide should have been emailed to you upon purchase. It is also available from the Materials menu on the Host-Party website.

Guest Instructions

Before The Party

With your invitation you should receive these instructions and details of the character you are going to play together with your costume ideas and a pre-game clue. (This clue helps to set the scene for the evening's events).

Please try to follow the costume suggestions, but feel free to improvise if you prefer.

On The Night

On arrival at the party you may be given a nametag or label (please be careful with delicate fabrics). The host will then make an announcement about what has happened and the mystery will begin.

You will be given your clues and the events will unfold. On your first slip is some secret information, which you should not reveal unless directly challenged. Your slip will also tell you (in very small script) whether you are the murderer or not. If you are the murderer you may lie as much as you like. If you are not the murderer you must tell the truth.

As the evening progresses you will be able to ask and answer questions, read clues and form your opinion as to the identity of the murderer.

At the end of all the rounds the host will ask each player to make an accusation, giving reason, motive and method, of who they think is the murderer.

After everybody has guessed the host then passes the solution round to each person in the order in which their name appears on the solution. Each player then reads out his or her own section until the murderer is revealed.

Round 1 - The crime scene

Round Instructions

To start the game, the Host reads out The Announcement #1 explaining what happened to Roland Stone. The Host then reads out The Forensic Evidence #2 and then gives out the slips for each round. The guests then follow the instructions on their slips, which contain information that they have to keep to themselves until challenged, or information which they must reveal during the round. The authorities have encouraged each of you to talk among yourselves and try to discover hidden motives among members of the group.

General Clue (Share with all Guests)

The Announcement #1

Good evening everyone and welcome to Effingham Hall, the new home of rock legend, Roland Stone. Tonight's party was to celebrate the 30th anniversary of the formation of the supergroup 'The Falling Rocks' which was founded by Roland Stone and Tristan Shout. I am afraid however that I have some terrible news about Roland. You all saw Roland jumping around in his hot tub when the lights were turned on and then lying very still. Well I am afraid that he was not fooling around. He had been electrocuted and he is dead. Roland bought this place six months ago and his hot tub was the centrepiece of the extensive alterations, which he had done to this beautiful 15th Century mansion. The police have been called and will be undertaking their investigation.

The Forensic Results #2

Police Forensic Report

Following the examination of the crime scene by our forensic team, we have come to the conclusion that Roland was electrocuted in his hot tub as the lights were switched on. I am afraid that it was murder. It appears that a person or persons unknown unscrewed the watertight covers and bulbs from two of the underwater lights in the hot tub. As the lights were switched on, the unfortunate Mr Stone, who was waiting in the dark in the water was instantly electrocuted. Our inquiries are continuing and nobody will be allowed to leave here tonight until our investigation is complete
